EXPERIENCE

As a consultant, Michael has advised private sector entities and worked with Senior Management in both a State and Local Government context.

Following his career as a professional accountant working in the 'Big 4', Michael spent five years working as a Chief Operating Officer in the legal industry where he honed a broad range of management skills leading a team of lawyers and administration staff. Michael has also established his own IT software company which helps entities close the feedback loop between employers and employees.

His broad range of experiences and skills are now being applied in a management consulting context focussing on the local government and legal industries.

Michael has also spent time as a Director of an Adelaide based Foundation which runs Projects for disadvantaged children both locally and abroad.

Michael is problem solver who builds personal relationships with clients. Strong communication skills and a sense of urgency and helpfulness are the key personal attributes that underpin Michael's philosophy as a consultant.
